Silk Seal Plush Jackets at the season of Good Shepherd and placed in there. Last evening some one called at the place in a carriage and took the girl out to the branch of the convent at Normandy. She is still there, and the sisters say be is attending school. In fact, she has been placed at school at the very institution to which Mr. Taylor and the Women's Humane Society had agreed she should be sent.

Although the Sisters of the House of Go Shepherd claim that Mr. Spink pla girl in the logitution, Mrs. Taylor has no k) age of her whereabouts, he en age and says if either of the Spinks. Charles C., his son-in-law or Al H., the brother of his son-in-law, placed Alice there or had anything to do with her kidnapping, they never achim with the fact and acted "I do not believe, however," remarked Mr Taylor, "that either of them were implied in carrying off the girl or placing in that institution. If she is there yow nothing of it. Who did abduct hould not state. Last night I received a bit of information of a rather startling nature, and I am investigating it to learn whether it is true. If it proves to be, it will create something of a stir, as it implicates some officials pretty high up. It does not deal with the abduction of the child itself, but has something to do with the attempt to take the girl out of my ing, providing as could in the meantime give a bond of $8,000 for the faithful performance of his trust.

"We understand that Alie Jackman is at Normandy," said Mr. Brouthers this morning, "and we are going to get her away from there. Now, I would not have any objections to her being put any place where she could be educated if we could have her near so as to keep an eye on her. I take a great interest in the girl, and want her placed in the Ursuline Convens, which is conveniently near my home, and where we can see her frequently. If they had taken her to the Ursuline Convent at first I would be perfectly satisfied to leave her there. Mr. Estes and I are going out there this morning to bring her back if possible and I expect we can make it all right."

Later in the day, however, Mr. Brouthers and Mr. Estes changed their mind about going to Normandy after the child, and decided to remain in the city. They expressed the belief that while the child was gone she would be indusneed by the Taylor family and that to-morrow morning she would be brought into court and would ask that Mr. Taylor instead of Mr. Brouthers be made her guardian.

This afternoon Mr. Brouthers said it the girl was satisfied where she was and wished to remain be would not ask her to leave. All he wanted was that she should be satisfied with with the arrangements made for her, but he says he is going to see her and hear what she she; THE LAW AGAINST KIDNAPING.

The Mother Superior stated that she was not the institution when the girl was brought there and did not see her taken away. She aid, when inquiries were made last evening bout the girl, she did not even more than the state of the control of the c sister who was in charge of the institution when the girl was brought there to explain the circumstances.

The sister came forward and was very communicative and said she was willing to tell what she knew about the affair. The girl was brought there, she said, by Mr. Spink and APPEARED TO BE PERFECTLY CONTENTED. Yesterday a lady and gentleman called to see her, and they had a very pleasant talk together. They were friends of her guardian. The girl said they were going to take her away from there soon. In the evening a carriage containing several persons drove up to the entrance, and the girl was taken away by the same person who brought her. She appeared to be very willing to go.

The sister said she had an impression that the girl was easily influenced and was not of a particularly bright intellect. Alice had told her that the people with whom she had been living of late said if the other people got her she would be put in the House of the Good Shepherd for life and would be fed on byead and water. The girl did not show any objection to going away in the carriage. Mr. Spink was one of the party who took her away. Both the sister wno received the girl and the Mother Superior stated that she could be seen at the Normandy institution by any person whom she desired to see without any order being given the sailer. The Normandy institution street it was the custom not to admit any one to see a girl unless they were accompanied by her parents or guardian, or had an order from them. This was because girls who were placed in there were supposed to be kept from people in the outside world.

Mr. Guild was again interviewed yesterday aftermoon by a financial reporter, and it will appear in this afternoon's papers. He simply continued to talk builtsh, and said he didn't know why Missouri Pacific and Western Union were weak. The business of both companies was good, and he had not sold them, and was not trading in the market. London came strong this morning, and at the opening of our market there was very listle trace of the weakness which prices showed yesterday, excepting in Sugar and Cotton Oil, both of which opened lower, and the former has continued weak until now. Union Pacific and its allied stocks are all notably strong, with a great deal of talk about the completion of the traffic arrangements with the Fort Worth, etc. The Vanderblit stocks are also strong, but there is nothing especially new to make the market stronger to-day than it was yesterday. So far as railway shares are concerned, the market at the present hour is duli but firm. Money has loaned from 7 to 8, with some appearance of manipulation.

lew Boundary Lines to Be Drawn for the Provinces-New Basis of Representation Yet Asked to Recognize the New Government-News From Dr. Peters-Sir Henry James' Speech Before the Parnell Commission - Revenue Frauds in Canada-General Foreign News.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 20 .- Dr. Valente, the Brazilian Minister, has not yet been of-ficially requested to ask the United States ficially requested to ask the United States Government to recognize the United States Government to recognize the United States of Brazil. He believes that such request will not be made immediately, but that the new Government will wait a reasonable length of time in order to satisfy the world of its stability before seeking formal recognition. The Minister regards the views of the dominant Republicans as set forth in their manifesto as most reasonable in all respects, and as they have assumed all of the obligations and debts of the Empire and have guaranteed the fullest measure of protection and personal liberty to the citizens of other nations residing in Brazil as well as security to their vested interests, he can not see any excuse for dissatisfaction abroad at the recent change. In his view a constitutional convention must assemble in Brazil at the earliest possible moment. This body will probably readjust the boundaries or representations of the twenty existing provinces, which vary largely in size and density of population. The Senate will also have to be reconstructed. Its abolition as the first act of the revolutionists has been misunderstood, as tending toward despotism. As a matter of fact, said Dr. Valente, it was a liberal movement, as will be understood when it is generally known that the Senators under the old regime were elected for life, and, it has been asserted, did not always continue to reflect the views of their constituents. The Minister also looks forward to the extension of the right of suffrage by the constitutional convention. At present, in addition to the ordinary requirements of age, citizenship, etc., the voter must be possessed of an income of not less than $200 per annum. This requirement has been liberally construed yet there is a demand for its abolition. Because of the mixed character of the population of Brazil, the Minister believes that it would hardly be wise to have unrestricted suffrage at present, but favore the imposition of a requirement that after a period of four y Government to recognize the United States of Altogether Dr. Valente takes a most hopeful view of the situation. "It is not the destruc-tion of the building," said he, "but rather a renovation."

He next referred to Mr. Byrnes' alleged complicity in the murders while he was acting as secretary for the Paraeilite party. Alluding to the suppression of the League's books, Sir Henry said he did not wish to direct suspicion against Mr. Lewis, nor to make allegations against him. Still he could not help thinking that that astute gentleman had been imposed upon regarding the missing books. If the commission could have got the books they would have got the books they would have been found to contain records showing that Byrnes and other members of the Paraeilite party were connected in a financial way with the Invincibles. The defense put forward by Sir Charles Russell on this aspect of the case was open to the gravest suspicion.

CHICAGO, Nov. 20 .- A dispatch to the Tim from Montreal, Quebec, says: The gigantic frauds on revenue discovered in Quebec are the sensation of the hour. The customs officials estimate that the Federal treasury was defrauded last year by whisky smugglers at Quebec alone of a sum considerably in excess of $250,000. The seizures thus far in the vicinity foot up 117 barrels of fifty gallons each, upon which the duty should be $2.60 per gailon. This would make $140,000 that the smugglers would have pocketed, but there is no ascertaining how much they have already defrauded the revenue out of, to the injury of the legitimate trade A prominent local business man stated yesterday that the lilegitimate trade done here amounted in all probability to one-third of the importations at Quebec, much of the contraband whisky being landed at various riverside parishes all the way up from the guif, and especially on islands in the St. Lawrence where large deposits, in one place alone 200 barrels have been selzed. The spirits so far selzed are principally highwines of greater strength than Canadian standard and supposed to be of American manufacture. So far none has been found in possession of merchants here, though there is little doubt that there are merchants gat the bottom of these smuggling operations. Rumor is at present busy with the name of more than one prominent Quebec importing house. Mr. Corneli er, Queen's consel, declares, however, that his instructions are to proceed irrespective of rank for politics, and spicy revelations are doubtless forthcoming. Yesterday he caused the first batch of summenses to be issued from the police court here, returnable on Tuesday next.

THE LINE OF DEFENSE ADOPTED BY COUN-SEL IN THE CRONIN TRIAL

O'Sullivan—Conflicting Statements of Witnesses—Testimony of a Member of Camp No. 20—A Winess Who Interested rk-To-Day's Proceedings.

CHICAGO, Ill., Nov. 20.-Kate McCormick, a witness called by the defense in the Cronin case this morning. She has known O'Sullivan for about seven years, and on May 5 of this year she was at her sister's, having gone there on the afternoon of the 4th. After supper on the Saturday night she went out with Mrs. Whalen at about 8:30 o'clock, leaving O'Sullivan sitting in the ikitchen with his coat off. Mrs. Whalen's husband with his coat off. Mrs. Whalen's husband was in the sitting-room with his two children. Witness and her sister returned to the house after 10 o'clock and were let in by James Minnehan. She and her sister sat up reading for over an hour and then wont upstairs to O'Sullivan's room for a cot. The light was burning in the room and O'Sullivan and Mulcahy were in bed. Witness spoke to the men and took the cot down stairs. She was positive that O'Sullivan was in the house when she left at 8:30 and was in his room when she got back. Witness testified as to the presence of the Hylands there on Sunday evening. This ended her direct testimony and she was then cross-examined by the State's Attorney.

Under a sharp fire of questions the witness became confused and said while she was at O'Sullivan's Sunday night, the 5th of May, she was not quite sure that she was there on the preceding night, which was the night of the murder. The witness after being further questioned, repeated the story of her shopping expedition with her sister on Saturday night, the 4th, and their return to the house, just as she had told to nher direct examination.

night, the 4th, and their return to the house, just as she had told it on her direct examination.

THE CLANCY INTERVIEW.

Mrs. Tom Whalen was the next witness called and, after describing with Theat minuteness the plan and situation of her house, the location of the bedrooms and other details, proceeded to corroborate the testimony given by her sister as to their goings and O'Sullivan's whereabouts on the night of May 4th and 5th. Mrs. Whalen further testified that she heard O'Sullivan, previous to May 4, speak of his contract with Dr. Cronin at the supper table to the men. She also testified as to Conklin's visit to O'Sullivan's on the 5th of May and as to his conversation concerning Dr. Cronin's disappearance. The witness was now asked to give her testimony concerning the visit of Mr. Clancy, the New York Heroid correspondent, who called on O'Sullivan the day that Dr. Cronin's body was discovered. Mr. Clancy, the witness said, came into the house and made some remark about the discovery of Dr. Cronin's body and said; "I have a cab at the door and want you to go with me to identify the remains." Mr. O'Sullivan said: "Why should I go with you'I don't know who you are and never saw you before to-day. If a police officer comes and the men was standing during it.

learning as to the location of her kitchen win-dows, suddenly asked: "Is that the window you used to watch the Carlson cottage out of?"
'I object to that," said Mr. Forrest. "That assumes that she watched the Carlson cottage." Judge Longenecker then modified his guestion as follows:

"Did you not usually sit at that window and watch the Carlson cottage after the 4th of May?"

"Yes, looking at the curiosities over there," replied the witness.

"Did you not do that the day after the 4th of May?"

"No, I had something else to do." of May?"
'No, I had something else to do.'
'Did you not sit there and watch every movement made by the Carlsons and also watch that cottage?'
'No, I had no reason to do it, and I did not.''

sion appointed by Secretary Whitney last January, pursuant to an act of Congress, "to report as to the most desirable location on or near the coast of the Gulf of Mexico, and the South Atlantic coast for navy yards and dry docks," has made its report to Secretary Tracy. The commission met at the Navy Department March 11, and on the 18th proceeded to make its examination of the various sites suggested, accompanied by Lieut. Commander R. D. Hitchcock, Lighthouse Inspector. The tour lasted until April 8, at which time the commission returned to Washington and the work of preparing the final report was begun by Lieut. Kennedy. The report is very voluminous and is accompanied by estimates for docks, dredging and cutting out bars and channels, topographical surveys and borings at various localities. The commission visited and examined the following sites, the advantages and disadvantages of which are set forth in detail: Port Royal, S. C.; Savannah, Ga.; Brunawick, Ga.; Sapelo Sound, Ga.; Key West, Fla.; Mobile Bay and Mount Vernon, Ala.; Biloxi, Miss.; New Orleans, La.

The conclusion of the commission is as follows: "After carefully weighing all the advantages and disadvantages of Algiers as a site for a naval station the commission is of the ophnion that while the spot is not an ideal one no other place on the gulf compares with it in the advantages fovernment reservation at Algiers, La."

The site selected is situated opposite the lower end of New Orleans at Algiers and embraces a Government reservation of SM feet front on the river by 2,880 feet deep. Additional ground would have to be purchased but this, the commission says, can be secured at a reasonable price. The dry dock here, it is astimated, will cost $84,000 and require January, pursuant to an act of Congress, "to

The dry dock here, it is estimated, will cost $$40,000 and require three years for its construction. As to Port Royal the commission recommends the establishment of a dry dock, depot of naval supplies and coaling station on Paris Island at the site of the present naval station. An estimate accompanying the report fixes the cost of timber dry dock, similar to those now building for the Government, at $675,000 to be completed in three years.

Decision of the Knights of Labor Touching the Eight Hour Question. ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 20.-Yesterday the con-

Committee of the Whole to consider the eight-hour a day movement. The Committee on the State of the Order made its report on dorse any general strike. The matter has been generally discussed by the different assemblies and communications from all over the country have been received regarding it. Mr. Samuel Gompers, Fresident of the American Federation of Labor, forwarded a letter to the convention in which he said that his men were opposed to a general strike, but would undertake one unless the manufacturers agreed to the reduction of labor hours. The committee besides its report submitted the following resolution, which was adopted:

Resolved, That we coincide with the last expressed views of the President of the American Federation of Labor, expressing as they do the sentiments of that organization that "no general strike" should be inaugurated upon May 1, 1890, and that the movements should be confined to such trades as "are in condition" to put the plan in operation May 1, 1890.

Resolved, That we call upon the President of the American Federation of Labor to indicate the trade or trades organized within the folds of that society which is, or are prepared to successfully inangurate the eight hour.

The Committee on Appeals and grievances, made its final report. The Finance Committee recommended a change, so that in the future the actual car fare to and from conventions will be paid. In future all local assemblies attached to the General Assembly will pay a per capita tax of 10 cents per quarter, instead of 6 cents as heretofers. The General Executive board were empowered at their discretion to put on an assessment tax of not more than 20 hents for the next year. A resolution was passed declaring that the General Assembly favored an increase in the pay of printers' assistants to the Bureau of Engraving and Printing at Washington from $1.25 to $2 per day. son of Wm. Blase, was called. The witness is only 12 years old and was objected to by counsel for Sweeney, but showed such appreciation of the nature of an oath that Judge Thayer overruled the objection. The boy testified that he had gone to Sweeney's saloon and asked Sweeney to accompany Mr. Biase to the court to get citizen's papers. He called on Sweeney three times before arranging a date upon which Sweeney would go to court.

but thought he was. Two years later he came to America.

Judge Thayer ordered all of the testimony regarding O'Brien's age stricken out. The witness had a very imperiect recollection of the circumstances of his naturalization. He was accompanied to the Court of Criminal Correction by James Sweeney who acted as his witness. To the best of his knowledge and belief O'Brien said he did not arrive in this country prior to his list hirthday, though his naturalization certificate pretends he did. Deputy Clerk Fitzgeraid of the Court of Criminal Correction was asked to look at the record of the court and read that portion relating to the naturalization of Wm. Blase. This was objected to, counsel for the defense representing that it had been shown affirmatively that Sweeney did not act as witness for Blase, was not sworn and was not asked any questions whatever.

Judge Thayer in sustaining the objection said that no testimony had been effered to show that the defendant had acted as a witness for Blase, Thos. Buckley or Claus Marsau. This deduction of the Court was not unexpected but was a severe blow to the prosecution. It seemed that every turn of the prosecution was being defeated.

Judge Faxson furnished his testimony in the United States District Court in the trial of the Sweeney naturalization fraud case yesterday and was followed on the stand by Charles Bilihartz, a Deputy Clerk in the Court of Criminal Correction. He testified as to the method of issuing naturalization papers or that Sweeney was a witness for Jourgens. The rate at which foreigners were made citizens bewildered him, as he had the warrants, court papers and naturalization papers to make out. He said he understood there was an invariable rule.

"Note.—The foregoing rule applies only upon freight which cannot be unloaded in stormy weather without damage thereto." The complaint of the coal desiers is that while the manager apparently has discretion it extends only to goods that may be damaged and can not take into consideration the danger to horses employed in hauling coal in such weather.

The provision as to connecting lines is as follows:

receiving agent will deduct the number of hours thus shown from the forty-eight (48) hours allowed for disposing of the cars, and will charge and collect car service accordingly. Car service charges due upon cars ordered to tracks of connecting lines within the switching limits of 8t. Louis, will be collected by the agent of the forwarding road. When cars are ordered to points beyond the switching limits, the charges should follow as advances unless paid by shipper or consignee." A CONFERENCE was to have been held at 11 o'clock this morning between the coal, hay and grain dealers, at the office of Scott Williams, manager of the Car Service Association, in the Fagin building, but it was postponed until this afternoon. Those interested will urge very strongly a modification of the rule and an extension of the time, but under existing circumstances it is doubtful whether they will obtain any concessions. An extension to forty-eight hours after the receipt of the notice of the arrival of freight would, in the absence of any greater change, be satisfactory, as under the present rule there is really only about twelve hours of day-light in which to unload cars, as the forty-eight hours allowed of course includes two nights.

ADOPTED BY THE CITY COUNCIL AT LAST

The Mayor Asked to Stop Work on the People's Road Extension—A Bitter De-bate Between the Councilmen—How Matters Stand-A New Electric Road-Rob

The Council last night adopted the majority lecture at St. Mark's Lutheran Church, corne report of the Joint Committee on People's Railway affairs. The report was made by committee of which Mr. Rohan is chairman at 7:45 p. m.

the meeting a week ago.
' In substance the report states that the Peo ple's Railway Co. in April, 1888, obtained an ordinance to extend the road and change the motive power. When the ordinance had been for approval Mr. Green, the President of the telegraphed to by the Mayor and told that if he agreed to introduce later a bill amending the Grand av-enue route the existing ordinance would be signed. This Mr. Green agreed to do and the anchise with the Grand avenue route for the extension became a law. A short time later Mr. Green had the ordinance introduced as he had promised, changing the route of the extension from Grand avenue to Compton avenue. The Assembly changed this a little and put one track on Grand avenue and one on Compton. The bill got as far as the Mayor's office and was there vetoed by Mayor Allen because of a clerical error. From this point on the Council and Mr. Green disreport now holds that Mr. Green did not act up to his agreement after the bill was vetoed by Mayor Allen, because he did not introduce a second bill of the same tenor and have it passed.

Introduce a second bill of the same tenor and have it passed.

Mr. Green, on the other hand, holds that he did, as he agreed, introduce an ordinance changing the route of the extension, and that the municipal authorities saw fit to veto the bill through no fault of his, and therefore his duty was ended as far as his agreement with Mayor Francis was concerned, and according, ly he went to work and built his cable road and made his extension in conformity with the only existing franchise. The committee agreeing, from the standpoint that Mr. Green had not carried out his agreement, that Grand avenue was a boulevard to all intents and purposes, and that double tracks on Grand avenue would be a damage to both the street and Tower Grove Park, recommend that the Mayor be requested, by concurrent resolution of the Council and House, to stop the work on Grand avenue until the Assembly makes up its mind as to what it wants to do.

The Council has adopted this committee report and it now remains for the House to follow the lead of the Council. Mr. Green was seen this morning and asked if he could explain the conduct of Mr. Rohan of the Council, who seems to be the prime mover in the affair. Mr. Green said that he could not explain why Mr. Rohan was behaving as he was unless he was sore at not getting the contract for boilers at the powerhouse. As to the doings of the Council and their fuss was useless as they could not make him take up his tracks, which were now yery nearly completed. fuss was useless as they could not make him take up his tracks, which were now very nearly completed. The adoption of the report last night was not achieved by those who desired if without some lively discussion. Mr. Rohan took the lead and nigred the adoption some lively discussion. Mr. Rohan took the lead and urged the adoption of the report, and called Mr. Green a most expert prevaricator in unmeasured terms, and said that Mr. Green was fully aware of the fact. He was supported to a greater or less degree by Councilmen Comfort, Nelson, Sloan, Benslek, Vogel and Hoolan, Mr. Cole in his remarks referred to the record of the Council and showed that the Grand avenue part of the People's Railroad was the result of an amendment offered to the original ordinance by the Committee on Railroads, of which Mr. Rohan was chalrman, and that the amendment and bill was voted for by Mr. Rohan. Mr. Cole suggested that Mr. Rohan. Mr. Cole suggested that Mr. Rohan, in reply, pleaded the excuse that he had done this as a step toward bringing about the amendment promised to Mayor Francis, and that voting for the Grand avenue track was in keeping with that particular arrangement. Incidentally Mr. Rohan. Mayor Francis, and that voting for the Grand avenue track was in keeping with that par-ticular arrangement. Incidentally Mr. Rohan made a dash at City Counsellor Bell for an opinion rendered by him on the subject. After much debate the report got through by the vote of Messrs. Benslek, Comfort, Hoolan, Nelson, Rohan, Sioan and Vogel.

A New Electric Road. The Board of Public Improvements will, tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock, pay a visit to the new extension of the Lindell Railway. This new piece of road begins at Vandeventer and new piece of road begins at Vandeventer and Finney avenues, goes west on Finney avenue to Taylor avenue to Taylor avenue to Fairfax avenue to Fairfax avenue to Vandeventer again. The road is operated by the Sprague overhead electric system and has so far been an unqualified success. The board intends to visit the road and go over the route in a special car and then visit the powerhouse, which is located in the southern part of the city, near Unouteau and Compton avenues.

Mayor Noonan to-day committed to th House of Refuge a little negro boy named James Robinson, aged 12 years. James, according to the statement of the policeman on the beat where he hangs out most of the time, is a very unmanageable youngster, having a habit of breaking windows and grabbing whatever is in reach and then lighting out before the store-keeper realizes what is going on. The direct course of his commitment is somewhat peculiar. Yesterday while wandering about in search of mischief he came across an old blind negro who was begging on the street corner and attempted to relieve him of 15 cents. The old blind man was too quick and captured the boy just as he had the money in his grasp. A policeman came along and was informed of the circumstances and the little negro confessed, but claimed that he only took a nickle. James Robinson, aged 12 years. James,

> Beil and Cardinal, Thursday, November 21, a GEN. GREENTHAL DEAD

The Most Expert Pickpocket in the County

By Telegraph to the Post-Dispatch. NEW YORK, Nov. 20 .- Abraham Greenthal better known by the police as "Gen. thal, was buried quietly vesterday from the residence of his sister in the Tenth Ward. His death occurred on Sunday. He was acknowl edged to be one of the most expert pickpockets in the country, and was the leader of the notorious mob that operated all over the country. He was 68 years old, and received his discharge from the Kings County Penitentiary a few weeks ago, where he was serving a five-year term for alding Benedick Goetz, alias "the Cockroach," in robbing Robert B. Dibbie of Williamsburg of a pocketbook containing $795 in money on a cross town car. Heart disease carried the General off. He was born in Portland and passed as a German. He was a widower, stoutly built, wore no whiskers and had a benevolent look. His home was in the Tenth Ward, and for over thirty years he was known to the police as a receiver of stolen goods and general thief. He was a warm friend and close companion of Mother Mandelbaum, who is now a member of the American Colony of Refugess in Canada. In March, 1877, in the company of his brother Harris, alias Herman Greenthul, and Samuel Casper, his son in law, the General was arrested for robbing Wm. Jinkson of $1,190 in the New York Central Depot in Rochester. Jinkson sold a farm in Massachusetts and exhibited his roli of greenbacks in Albany. The Greenthal gang followed him and at Rochester told him he he must change cars. One of the thieves politely carried the old farmer's valise and the entire party entered another car on the same train. In jostling through the crowd the "General" relieved Jinkson of his pocketbook. The trio were arrested, tried and convicted, the old man receiving a sentence on April 19, 1877, of twenty years of imprisonment in Auburn prison. His brother, Harris, got eighteen years. Harris and Casper were pardoned by Gov. Cleveland in December, 1884, the General receiving a similar layor in the previous spring.

A vear later the General committed his last robbery in Brooklyn, and went from the Kings County Peniteutiary to a sick bed on which he closed his earthly career. He served several partial terms in various prisons but generally secured a pardon before the full term was edged to be one of the most expert pick pockets in the country, and was the leader of

OFFICIAL CONNIVANCE AT CRIME

There is no government of law, no respect for law and no protection under the law where the laws are not enforced. Here in St. Louis, at immense cost to the laboring and taxpaying masses, we maintain a standing army of policemen and sheriffs to arrest lawbreakers and a full complement of criminal courts and police courts to try all the cases and impose the penalties of the law. But both in the Police Board and in the courts it seems to be assumed that certain laws, as binding on courts and executive officers as any on the statute books, are not to be enforced, and that official connivance at notorious and systematic violations or evasions of those laws will be perfectly safe in the support of public opinion. There is no other explanation of the apparently settled purpose of the police and the courts to treat certain laws as dead letters, vetoed by an opposing public sentiment. There is no other explanation of the inaction of the police with reference to the publication of lottery advertisements and the vending of lottery tickets -no other explanation of the uniform failure of the courts to impose the penalties of the law upon the few who have been unavoidably arrested and found ing the advertisement of the same lottery. guilty.

Now this official inaction is in fact criminal connivance at a system of felony which robs not only this city but its poor, who are least able to stand the loss, of hundreds of thousands of dollars every month. The robbers can well afford to pay for the immunity from punishment which is guaranteed to them, but the officials are mistaken who assume that public sentiment protects the felons or approves of official connivance at their crimes. An awakening of public opinion on this subject is alone needed to convince them of their mistake, and the POST-DISPATCH will never drop the subject till that awakening comes, and comes to stay.

THE police alone are to blame for the weakness of the case against the local lottery organ for the publication of lottery advertisements. Instead of arresting only the alleged editor of the sheet, who may squirm out of the responsibility, the business manager and the President of the company should be proceeded against. The responsibility rests somewhere between these three, and probably on all of them. It certainly rests on the President, who should not be allowed to go free. As for the evidence, it is in black and white. Nothing except the unwillingness of the police to do their duty will cause a failure to punish these violators of the law.

Wm. Fruedenau, for publishing the advertisement of a Southern lottery. Why Gilbert is not charged with the same offense as Freudenan is a question that would be well to have answered. There is no disposition to be unreasonable with the police or to ask them to do one jot more than their plain duty, but they only seem inclined to do enough of their duty at least in this direction.

The status of the Southern lottery is well established and it has been fixed by the urts. The laws relating to lotteries apply to it, and to violate these laws is plainly an offense. The advertisements of the Mexican Lottery have not received the attention of the court of Missouri, and it is a question yet to be determined what the legal standing of that The publication of lottery drawings is an

Why the police have picked out these two is a for printing the adversisement of the Southern lotter?

The answer is easy. For two years he has been publishing the advertisement of this lottery every day except a few days preceeding the drawing each month. The offense has been committed four or five hundred times and no attention has been paid to it by the police. Occasionally he has printed the drawings and now and them the Mexican lottery advertisement. And yet the police take no notice of the offense which has been committed time and time again and under pressure prosecute for offenses which have only been co-casionally committed and which are liable to furnish an opportunity to the criminal to escape. The police would hardly attempt if they permitted a thief to commit 500 thefts, knew they could convict him on any of them, yet did not arrest him until they found two cases about which there might be some doubt, and brought him into court then only when there was a public outery for his arrest. Yes, that is what the police have done in John Glibert's case. Only last Saturday, after one warrant had been sworn out against him, he printed the advertisement of the Southern lottery. It is plainly an offense. Why do the police not arrest him for it? They can give no excuse and they do not attempt to give any. When questioned they simply refuse to answer or give some evasive reply, such as, "We are attending to all that;" or, "Wait a little." TO BECUSE THEMSELVES

"We are attending to all that;" or, "Wait a little."

How long, oh Lord, how long!
Vice-President Overall said yesterday that every publication was a separate offense. Certainly every man ought to be punished for every offense committed against the law, yet the police are not attempting to punish this man for every offense he commits. They have sworn out two warrants for him. they seem to think that ought to be enough

TO SATISFT THE FUBLIC and keep the public still.

Such a presumption would not be reasonable.

Chief Huebler was asked if he would apply for a warrant every time an arrest was committed, or stop with what he has done.

"Yes, he did. He made that statement not five minutes ago."

"Yes, he did. He made that statement not five minutes ago."
"Well, if he said that then I will have to wait until the offenses are committed before I make up my mind."
It ought not to take the head of the Police Department long to make up his mind what he will do when an offense has been committed, and perhaps it will not take Chief Huebler long if he is free to act.

Every one, including the police, knew what this meant, which was that lottery tickets could be purchased at Drexier's cigar store, No. 817 Pine street. If it had been printed out "LOTTERY TICKETS FOR SALE," it could not have spoken more plainly than it did. but nothing was ever done to break up Drexier's business until the Post-Disparch demanded the suppression of lottery. It is to the cred it of the police, however, that they have at last stopped him, and they have a good case against him.

Officer Scully dressed in citizen's clothes and visited Drexier's establishment. He purchased a ticket in a Southern lottery, and then had the place raided. When the search was made the officers found 117 tickets in the Southern lottery and 101 tickets in Kansas City, Kan. The southern tickets were ji tickets and the others were sold for 50 and 25 cents.

The case against Drexier will be made on 25 cents.

The case against Drexier will be made on the tickets found, the ticket purchased by Officer Scully and the cards which he circulated, and Drexier will no doubt be convicted.

FELL FROM A BRIDGE.

A Sad Accident by Which a Wealthy Farmer

Lost His Life. One of the wealthlest and most prominent farmers of St Ciair County, Ill., Thomas Knobeloch, was accidentally killed near Belle-Knobeloch, was accidentally killed near Belleville last night by a fall which broke his neck. His home was on a large farm five miles from the city on the Mascoutah plank road, and it was while driving along this road that he was killed. He was the President of the St. Clair Steam Supply & Electric Light Co. of Believille, and he had been in that city during the day examining some machinery in the company's works. He started home in a waxon yesterday evening, and had proceeded about half way when he arrived at a culvert bridge over a small stream near the Haege farm. The bridge is a narrow one, and has no railing on either side. It is supposed that the team he was driving became frightened tand ran off the bridge, as his body was found in the stream below with the wayon. There was no witness to the accident and the exact circumstances of Mr. Knobeloch's death can only be conjectured. He was probably killed at about 7 p. m., but his body was not ifound until 11 o'clock. About 19 p. m. his wife, who had expected him home early in the evening and was apprehensive because of his absence, sent a man to look for him. The man passed over the bridge without finding any traces of him, and went as far as the toligate just outside the Belleville city limits, where he was informed that Mr. Knobeloch had passed through the gate on his way home. He returned and found the body beneath the bridge. The body was taken to the farm, but the news of the accident did not reach Belleville until this morning, when Coroner Woods was notified by a telephone message from here. The Coroner arrived during the forencom and held an inquest, at which the facts here stated were brought out, and a verdict in accordance was rendered by the jury. The deceased was one of four brothers who came from Germany to this country in 1832 and settled in St. Clair and other counties in this State, and gare well known throughout this section. Thomas Knobeloch, besides owning a number of valuable farms, also possessed a great deal of property in Belleville. H ville last night by a fall which broke his neck.

GRAIN RECEIVERS DEFENDING THEM-SELVES AGAINST EXPERT BURKS.

Great Majority of the Cars Received Sent able Change-How the State Inspector

Y THE receipts grain to-day it could plainly be seen that with denouncing the course of State Expert termined to take steps and his deputies to a condition of innocuous desuctude. The shipments of grain ordere before the Missouri ed in their field of industry to their own side of the river, were, of course, directed to be made as usual, and the great majority of the cars were received in St. Louis.

WHEN THE MERCHANTS' EXCHANGE letermined not to surrender East St. Louis als fellow experts, there was a large amount could not be changed. The consequence was than those of East St. Louis, and the State inspectors, who had been greatly cast down by the prospect of having their reason for existence cut off at the fou tain nead by the reduction of the inspection fees o infinitesmal proportions, began to enterain faint hopes that they would yet be able to collect enough to provide for their support and prevent a wholesale decapitation. These joyful anticipations were destroyed when the As is well known, the great majority of carload shipments of Form under ordinary circumstances are re-ceived on this side of the river. This morn-ing the cased was reversed, and it was made plainly evident that the declarations of the corn men that they had taken steps to recent their shipments from the eager grasp of Burks had not been vain threats, but had been fol-lowed by the action that provenhelly sneaks lowed by the action that proverbially speaks louder than words.

SOMETELL-TALE FIGURES.

The receipts of corn on this side of the river amounted to but 27 cars, while 80 were delivered in East St. Louis. This change is most significant, and lnadequately represents what is likely to occur in the future. Many dealers have had corn delivered on this side of the river who have ordered that in future all shipments shall be made to East St. Louis and the disproportion in receipts will greatly increase, until within a few days only a few insignificant shipping points in the vicinity of the city will send corn to St. Louis, the immense force of inspectors, it is estimated, being likely to be larger in numbers than the daily car receipts.

That the State inspectors do not intend to force of inspectors, it is estimated, being likely to be larger in numbers than the daily car receipts.

That the State inspectors do not intend to submit to these severe disciplinary measures without retaliation was evidenced by their action to-day, and their course was almost as disadvantageous to the corn receivers as the action of the latter had been to them. Shipments to East St. Louis were answered by low inspection. As stated in the Fost-Disparch the corn received on this side has been graded much lower than that sent across the river, but to-day this line of defense was utilized far more strongly than ever before. Of the eighty cars sent to East St. Louis forty-four were found to grade No. 2.

Of THE TWENTY-SEVEN CARS shipped to this city not one, in the opinion of Burks and his deputies, was worthy to be classed so high. This of course is most disadvantageous both to the farmer and the receiver, but those injured by such a line of action are philosophic, knowing that it must cease in a few days from want of material upon which an attack can be directed. It is the general impression that Burks will retain his employes to the end of this month, but that shortly after the 1st of December there will be an avalanch of official heads failing into the basket. There are now twenty-seven car loads of grain of all kinds on the track on this side of the river, as compared with 105 in East St. Louis, as the proportion in favor of this city was about three to one before the advent of Burks and his experts, and as it is probable that this city has now a larger proportion than it will again have as long as he continues to hold his present position, the beneficial influence that he has exerted on Missouri trade can be easily estimated.

There were four cases of burglary and lareny docketed for trial in the Court of Crim-Bautan. When the defendant was brought up examination, and was held for the Grand-jury n each case, the bond required aggregating in each case, the bond required aggregating $2,300.

Bautan is now known in police circles as the "funeral thief," on account of his peculiarity disreputable calling. For several months complaints came in thick and fast from all over the extreme northern and southern part of the city in regard to the ravages of some plunderer who made it a practice to enter a house while the immates were burying a member of the taming. When arrested a week ago by officers of the Third District Bautan confessed his guilt and disclosed the hiding-place of his plunder. Over $500 in money and jeweiry of almost an equal value was recovered and turned over to its proprietors upon identification. The police now have a suspicion that Bautan is Henry Poindexter, a famous thief, who recently escaped from an Eastean penitentary after serving about one year of a twenty-year sentence.

His divorced wife says she is not. Mrs. Minnie Beger was arrested about 10 o'clock this morning by Deputy Sheriff Hardtwig and locked up in the jail on a warrant sworn out charging her with fraud. She was found in her coom at 1100 High street and accombanied the officer without resistance. When in her coil she told a strange story, saying:

"I am the divorcod wife of this same Fred Beger who wants to marry Cora Daly. I married the man about three years ago and we lived together until last June. He abused me so much, however, that I sned for a divorce and secured it on the grounds of cruelty. In a few days Beger came to my house and said he was sorry for what he had done. I told him I would live with him again and he said it was not necessary to be married a second time. A while after that.

Until a short time long remember and regret. Until a short time ago she lived in this city with her elater, but was anxious to earn her own support and answered an advertisement of a Denver theatrical manager. Ignorant of the true character of the work she was contracting for and misled by the representations of acquaintanes, who had more knowingly gone into the engagement, she started for Denver. Unfortunately for her present mental composure, she agreed to allow her name to be signed to letters arranging for the transportation. She and her married sister were induced to from St. Louis and who used Miss Brazelton's name to sign them placed her in a very unfavorable light. She and her sister have been thoroughly alarmed by the first efforts to make their own way in the world and to-day telegraphed to their mother. "What do you think of this?" he said, handing the writer a cable message he had just received from his agent on the other side. The message con-tained the information that a party, designated by name, had scooped in all the long odds obtainable about Foxhall for the coming race, and that if Mr. Keene wished to back his horse for a big stake he would be compelled to take a ridiculously short price. "Now," said Mr. Keene, "it is quite clear that this man has got hold of certain facts about my horse that should have been known to no one outside of myself, my agent and the trainer. But they counted without their host. We simply waited until they jumped, raised as little fuss over their departure as possible and went on and rebuilt and perfected our organization."

"What evidence had you that the move of Cincinnati and Brooklyn was premeditated?"

"I had this evidence: I knew the League wanted to get rid of both Washington and Indianapolis and I knew that these two clubs were anxious to sell out. be better teams than those that will be found in the League."
"Have you decided definitely as to just what the American Association will be?"
"Not definitely but it will be made up out of St. Louis, Detroit, Toledo, Louisville or Columbus in the West and Philadelphia, Baitimore, Rochester and Syracuse or Toronto in the East. The new clubs have all splendid backing, and they will every one of them be able to put first-class teams in the field. Rochester is a Sunday town, and, while the week day attendance has always been good there, I am reliably informed that the funday games often attract as high as 15,000 persons. In the International Association the strendance at Toronto has been 3,000, field. Rochester is a Sunday town, and, while the week day attendance has always been good there, I am reliably informed that the Sunday games often attract as high as 15,000 persons. In the International Association the average attendance at Toronto has been 3,000, and the people of that city have always had a good club. Syracuse was the best paying city in the International Association and its club has excellent backing. The club at Toledo is already one of the strongest in America. It has under contract Werden, Joves, Sunday and other players who recently have been sought after by clubs of the League and Association. Nearly all of these cities will compare with Cincinnati in size and population, and nearly every one of them has a population of over 250,000. Naturally they will be better cities, for the reason that even if the latter had remained in the American Association, Sunday games would have been prohibited there this year. The only loss we seem to have sustained by the recent action of Brooklyn and Cincinnati is the loss of Brooklyn. But in losing that city we make a decided gain by getting rid of Byrne, Abel and Doyle, the joint proprietors of the Brooklyn club. From the day Byrne asserted himself the American Association has had no good luck. He seemed to be its Jonah, and whils our club made some money out of the Brooklyn to the City traced to the influence of Byrne & Co., which in certain quarters gave the game a bad name and injured it in more ways than one."

"What about the report that you made application to the League for admission?"

"That is a lie made out of whole cloth. And the man who wrote the statement to that effect knew he lied when he wrote it. During all the war in New York I had nothing to say to any of the League men, neither did I send any one to them to plead my cause. I did not at any stage ask a favor of any kind of the Interests and mine are not in com mon. I never could get them to my wav of thin king, in so far as Sunday games are concerned. Danville, Ill., Nov. 20.—On the night of October 31 Alfred Orr, a teamster, missed his team and supposed it was a Halloween trick, but as it was not returned in a few days he offered a reward for the return of the stolen property. On the night of the 18th Inst. Constable Patterson arrested Wm. Coke for stealing a horse from Thomas Makinison, both being farmers living north of this city. Testerdey Officer Patterson went to Coke's barn and found there Orr's team.

Two Men Engage in a Fight in a Louisville Undertaker's Rooms.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 20 .- Over a corpse is a gruesome place for murderous blows, but custom and selfishness made three men here last night forget the presence of death. Wm. Miller, Charles Carey and George Wright are employed in a Market street undera corpse and each man wanted to be the one to drive the hearse to the funeral, that posi-tion being the most desirable in the rainy weather prevailing here. They quarreled and, standing above the body of the dead and, standing above the body of the dead man, they came to blows. Wright's hand was badly split open by a hatchet in the hands of one of the other men. Miller received a terrible blow in the back of the head which felled him to the ground. The men were en-gaged in the struggie when the officers arrived and transferred all the contestants to the station. the station.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 20 .- In the court in general term Justice Hagner delivered an opinion in the case of the estate of Anastasia opinion in the case of the estate of Anastasia Patten. The case was appealed from the Probate Court, where the four unmarried daughters sought to have the court decide that the fifth daughter, Mrs. Augusta P. Glover, the wife of ex-Congressman Glover of St. Louis, had forfeited her right as an executor because of her failure to return an inventory after the required time had elapsed. She also failed to show cause why she had not done so. Judge Hagner decided that the statute was not mandatory, and that if she showed sufficient cause whythe inventory had not been returned she could join her associates in executing the will. The case was remanded.

Much interest is being taken in the lecture to at Centenary M. E. Church, by Rev. Dr John Matthews. He has selected as his topic, "Vagaries of the Age" and those who have read previous sermons of Dr. Matthews on kindred topics and printed in the Posr-DisFATCH, will know that it is a subject which suits the speaker to a dot. The proceeds are to be applied parily to raising the debt on the Lafayette Park Church, partly to the preparations for the coming world's convention of the Meth dist Episcopal Church to be held the St. Louis, and for other purposes of a like nature. Dr. Matthews is very popular and the number of tickets already sold indicate that he will have a big audience to Popular Excursions

FOR $1.75.

A series of Intellectual Excursions will be made during the year 1890, under the auspices of the Publishers of THE YOUTH'S COMPANION, of Boston.

By sending $1.75 to them you will receive THE YOUTH'S COMPANION regularly once a week during the year 1890. You can then join these wonderful excursions, which are under the personal charge of famous and experienced men, and fully illustrated in the paper.

This week, in imagination you cross the Atlantic in company with Captain Kennedy, on the White Star Steamship Germanic, and enjoy all that he has to reveal; next week you travel into the very heart of Africa with Commander Cameron and search for Stanley; you go to Burmah and help to purchase Barnum's White Elephant; you reach the East Indies in time to be shaken by the great Earthquake of August, 1883; you go to Rome and see a Pope elected; you live for a day in a Lighthouse on the Massachusetts coast; you take an economical Bicycle Tour through Europe; you go to Ireland and your head grows dizzy as you climb the Skelligs; you visit Samoa; you sail the Ger-man Ocean, and feel the hardships of the North Sea fishermen, as you witness their wild life, and you enjoy a day's rough adventure in a Canadian Lumber Camp.

A year hence, your journeyings over, you will know more of the world, your vision will be broader, your interests larger, and your mind full of pleasant memories and valuable ideas.

Will you not join these excursions by sending a year's subscription ($1.75) to the Publishers. Write for the Prospectus, containing full particulars.

REAL ESTATE.

To-day's real estate sales were limited to

To-day's real estate sales were limited to common-place transactions, with brisk negotiations all through the market for the purchase of more valuable properties. There is a better inquiry just at present for down town sites than there has been at any time for several months past, and the sales of two prominent old corners, reported yesterday, for improvement is looked upon by real estate operators as the forerunner of numerous purchases to be made. In the business center between now and the first of the year.

The season is at hand when business property ordinarily sells best, and as prospective buyers are getting their ideas up to the standard of enhanced values, following the general commercial prosperity of the city and its remarkable growth in building improvements, it is anticipated that a great deal of central business property will have changed owners before the close of the aprocaching holidays. As an agent aptiy put it this morning: "These sales of down-town property are of great importance. The indicate the value of St. Louis property and the improvements that are going on here—more than a hundred sales of residence property. The buying up of the very few yacant places east of Twelfth street adds new value to all the other property in the business district and stimulates owners to residence property. Webb of Olive street, to Mr. Arthur Wilson Lambert, will be quietly celebrated at the family residence this afternoon at 5:80 o'clock in the presence only of the relatives of both families and intimate friends of the fair young bride. The spacious salons of her home have been garianded with smilax and grouped with plants, forming a pretty setting for the bridal. The ceremony will be performed by Rev. Dr. Cannon of the Grand Avenue Presbyterian Church. At the appointed hour the happy pair, preceded by two little girls, Mable-Chenauit and Lillie Lambert, dressed in quaint little Greenaway frocks of white China silk, and carrying bunches of lillies of the valley, will descend the broad stairway, and take their places in the front parlor. The bride, a beautiful young girl of stately mien and graceful darriage, will wear a charming wedding cown of white crepe de Chine, made with a long princess train over a petticoat of white saith, heavily trimmed with white silk fringe. The bodios, made with long ploints, is slightly open at the throat, and the demi-sleeves will be met with long gloves. In her hand she will carry a bunch of lilies of the valley, and over all will fall the misty folds of the wedding veil of tulle, bound lightly to her golden hair with pearl pins. After the ceremony a delightful repast will be served, and the Lappy pair will leave soon after for Alexandria, Va., where they will visit his relatives. When they return they will be domiciled for the winter with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Webb, No. 3523 Olive street, where she will receive her friends on Tuesdays.

sur, only child of Mr. Alyah Mansur, will be married to Mr. George J. Kaime. It will be a very brilliant affair, celebrated at Bt. Peter's ton orepe comilined, and will carry large bunches of yellow chrysanthemums.

Bonsock—Niedringhams.

This evening at 6 o'clock Miss Lennie Niedringhams, daughter of Hon. F. G. Niedringhams, will be married to Mr. F. C. Bonsack.
This will be a very elegant affair, to which a large number of guests have been invited, the ceremony taking place promptly at 6 o'clock, and the reception lasting from 5:30 until 5:30 o'clock. This will also be a chrysanthemum wedding, but pink will be the leading tone. The mantel pleces will be banked with gay pretty flowers, and the lights will all gleam through soft rose shades. A pink push cushion has been provided for the young couple to kneel upon to receive the nuptial base diction pronounced by Rev. Dr. Masden while above their heads will be suspended their monagram outlined in pink rosebuds. In the hall the mandolin orchestra, sorcemed by paims, will play the "Wedding March," which they will follow with other brightselections suited to the occasion.

The bride, a typical German beauty of the fair blonde type, will wear a very rich and lovely wedding robe of silk, velied completely with brocaded striped gauze, unique in design, made en traine over a petticox of piain white mousselighed se ole, fringed at the bottom with orange blossoms. The bodice which is made Empire fashion with folds of the silk mull, and soft girdle of the same, is also garlanded with orange blossoms, falling in a cordon at the side. The bridal bouquet which is made Empire fashion with folds of their made are Miss Emma Dozler, Miss Fannie Baker and Miss Katharine Bonsack, the groom's sister. These young ladies will all be dressed ailke in alips of white silk covered with full white tulle skirts, garlanded with pink chrysanthemums. In their hands they will complete these pretty tollettes. The groomsumen, Messre. Ed Rows, Sam Niedringhaus, Beverly Dyer and Leo Hadley, will also wear boutonniers of pretty tollettes. The groomsumen, Messre. Ed Rows, Sam Niedringhaus, Beverly Dyer and Leo Hadley, will also wear boutonniers of pretty tollettes. The groomsumen, Messre. Ed Rows, Sam Niedringh This evening at 6 o'clock Miss Lennie Nied

Elliott-Wilkerson. The last wedding of the day will be that of Miss Blanche Wilkerson, third daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Wilkerson, to Mr. W. H. Elliott. Owing to the recent death of the grand-mother of the bride, this marriage will be quietly celebrated at the family residence on Pine street, at 80'clock this evening, by Rev. C. A. Bartholomew of the First Christian Church, in the presence only of the immediate families of the bride and groom.

The bride, a pretty dark-eyed girl, will wear a dainty gown of white satin striped grea adine with pompadour train, over white silk, the pompadour coreage finished with folds of the gauze, open slightly at the throat, about which she will wear a slender chain from which is saspended the gift of the groom, a daisy formed of diamonds and pearls. Her bridal veil will be of tuile and in her hand she will carry lilies of the valley and roses. There will be no attendants at this wedding save the sister of the groom, Miss Attie Elliot, and the bride's brother, Mr. Percy Wilkerson. Miss Elliott will wear a lovely gown of pink silk covered with pink silk mull, with empire bodice, and will carry pink roses. The house will be prettily decorated with flowers, and after the repast the young couple will go at once to their home, No. 3429 Lucas avenue, which has been beautifully furnished for them by different relatives. Mrs. Elliott, the groom's mother, will wear black velvet and lace.

Miss Carrie Wilkerson will wear old rose slik, panelled with old gold, and black brocade.

Miss Leila Wilkerson will wear plae blue crope de chins, combined with white, sprinkled with bine violets.

Miss Kamie Wilkerson will wear black chantilly lace over satin. Miss Bianche Wilkerson, third daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Wilkerson, AMONG THE BROKERS.

West Granite Finally Moved on the Down Grade-The Rosalis Bubble.

There was more interest attached to the Mining Exchange market to-day than for some time. The first break of the every-day monotony was when Rosalis was called. There was onite a tilt in this stock and it furnished a great deal of amusement for those not participating in it. West Granite was the only real feature. The trading in it was heavy and it was sold down to 90 cents without much trouble. Central Silver was also lower.

On call American was $3.35 asked; Black Oak, 5½ bid, 6½ asked; Bremen, 2 bid; Buckskin, 3½ bid, 4 asked, 500 soid at $½; Cleveland, 2½ bid, 5 asked; Cleveland & Anchor, 55 bid, 70 asked; Cantal Silver

The after call session was very lively for a time. West Granite was the attraction and it sold right and left at 90 down to 90, the close being 90 bid, 91½ asked. The selling and buying was general, about 7,600 shares changing hands, though the bears, who seemed to have everything their own way, were the friends of the stock. Central Silver was also talked of and about 2,000 shares sold at 32½ down to 30.

Pupils of Ashland School Send a Juvenile littee to the Teachers Committee. While the Teachers Committee of the School Board was in session, yesterday afternoon, was waited upon by a juvenile committee from the Ashland School. At a former meeting of the Teachers Committee Prof. J. V. transferred. It was sudden and wholly unexwettle, Principal of the Ashland School, was transferred. It was sudden and wholly unexpected, as Mr. Wettle has been at the head of the school for four years, and has become a favorite with the pupils attending his school. When the children learned their principal was to be transferred they remenstrated and told him not to go, but as orders from the board are imperative the remonstrance was of little avail. Not long ago a vote was taken by the children, boys and girls during a recess, and they unaminously voted to have Mr. Wettle remain at the school. It was resolved to send a committee with letters and request to wait on the Teachers Committee at the next meeting, and yesterday evening this committee presented itself. It was composed of Masters Eddie Tackett, Frank J. Clark and Charles H. Magili of room No. 1 and Chauncy Magili of room No. 2. Eddie Tackett was spokesman, and with great self-possession and earnestness made known the object of the visit and the request of the pupils of Ashland School. The Teachers Committee told the boys it would consider the matter and they were dismissed. With such a pressure the committee will no doubt yield to the wishes of the children.

Washington devoted some time to an inquiry into possible changes of Federal officials in St. Louis and elsewhere. He said there would be no changes made this month as all the heads of departments are very busy preparing their reports and President Harrison does not wish to make appointments until Congress meets. Regarding the chances of candidates Mr. Kerens had nothing to sav.

A telegram from Springfield, Mo., represents the oltizens as being very indignant over the relocation by Secretary of the Treasury Windom of the Government building to be erected there. A site chosen for the building within a block of the business center last December was twice approved by the Secretary, but it is alleged that Richard Kerens of St. Louis and Steve Elkins had Windom relocate the building on the line of a street railway a half mile away. Kerens and Elkins are heavy stockholders in the street railroad, and their object, it is claimed, is to compel the people to patronize them when going to and from the Post-office, which will be kept in the building, "Farner!" Wade, the Congressman from that district, is charged with having sided in securing the relocation. Talk of an application to Congress for a repeal of the appropriation and for an investigation is current in Springfield.

THE BENDER SUSPECTS.

The Michigan Women, After a Hearing, Held for Trial at Oswege, Kan.

OswEGO, Kan., Nov. 20 .- The Justice of the Peace before whom Mrs. Almira Monroe and her daughter, Mrs. Sarah E. Davis, brought here from Niles, Mich., suspected of being old Mrs. Bender and Kate Bender, were examined, remanded them to jail at the condusion of the hearing. While the identification is not yet as positive as the prosecution wishes to have it, it was sufficient to establish the 'probable exuse' on which an examining court is justified in holding the accused for trial. The women are generally believed to be members of the murderous family which fied from Labette County, Kan., in 1873. The reason it has been so hard to positively identify them is they have been absent for more than sixteen veers and have sixteen desired.

them is they have been absent for more than sixteen years and have altered a great deal in that time. Then Mrs. Bender, who would naturally change least, was not well known to many people. The nearest neighbors lived miles from the Bender place and had little communication with them. Old Bender and John, if found now, could be much more readily identified, as they were better known than the women of the family. Bail has been refused.

Detectives Rellly and Brewer found her while making a tour of the cheap lodging houses in the center of the city. The landlady of a tenement at No. 38 Fair street told the detective that she had a strange little fellow who appeared to be good, but who probably run away from home, and was fast getting into evil ways. The little chap said he was Charlie Foster, and gave his tage as 16. He wore a natty little plack suit and bright red neck-tie. A fluffy bang of hair was covered with a soft, well worn felt hat. The top of a nickel-plated match-box peered out of Charlie's vest pocket. He talked with a slight English accent. CHARLIE'S STORY.

"Charlie" told the detectives that he came from England September last as a stowaway. He spun an interesting yarn of the voyage. The detectives took him to the office of Supt. HER EXPERIENCE IN NEW YORK.

She continued the journey to New York on Wednesday last. She put up at a cheap lodging-house, which she says is near First avenue and Forty-second street. Thursday found her in New Haven again with all her money gone and no jewelry to pawn. By her sweet little talk she succeeded in borrowing 25 cents from a newsboy and started into business as a competitor. During all her exploite Emily's mother searched the city for her, and the police and Agent Preston of the organized charities' association assisted. Yet she has brushed up against the police in the screets. On Saturday she met Gen. Preston face to face and sold him a paper. She walked across Chapel street yesterday almost side by side with her brother and he did not know her. Detectives Reilly and Brewer encountered her to-day merely by chance. She will be arraigned in the City Court to-morrow morning and will probably be sent to the Industrial Sented at Middleton. HER EXPERIENCE IN NEW YORK. continued the journey to New York on directing the sale of mining stock in Tuolumne County, Cal. It was not delivered for eleven days, and Abeles brought suit for $320 damages. The telegraph company set up in defense that the message being in cipher the company could not know its contents and should not be held liable. The lower court, however, held that the plaintiff was entitled to nominal damages, and gave judgment for $1. From this Abeles appealed. Judge Thompson, in giving the opinion of the Court of Appeals, said that where the delay had been so great as to amount to a substantial failure of the company to perform the duty undertaken, the proper measure of damages was the sum paid for the transmission of the message with interest. Counsel having stated, however, that the case was a test as to the right of the plaintiff to recover substantial damages beyond the costs of transmitting the message, and having thus walved the right to recover except nominal damages, the judgment of the lower court must be affirmed.

Centennial is itaken as an example, as it is can best be drawn. The gross expenditure at about $22,000,000. The receipts of all kinds AN INTERESTING ESTIMATE.

This does not include the receipts of the various exhibitions for sales made, and does not include the expense of preparing exhibits and oringing them to Philadelphia. It covers not only the cost to the managers of the Ex-position but also the salaries of those in charge of private exhibits, the expense of placing all money expended in Philadelphia. It is be leved that while the expense account is nearly complete the receipts as given are very much than they should be. The sheet of the Exposition showed that there was

This fact was at first considered indicative that no profit could be expected from the St Louis World's Fair, but a careful examinati of the items has convinced all who have me it that the financial failure of the Centennis proves that one held under wise man agement at St. Louis would yield a large pecuniary return to the subscribers to World's Fair stock. At Philadelphia sevral large fortunes were made by those wh bought privileges, for which they paid an amount so insignificant as to be scarcely worth the trouble of entering on the books. For in-stance, $2,500 was paid for the monopoly in rolling chairs. Over $500,000 ass divided among the stockhoiders in this enterprise. The sods water fountains were bid in at about $1,000, and the profits are estimated at $150,000. yielded over $70,000 to their owners, and so on through the list. The managers of the Exposition had no idea of the value of the franchises in their gift, and let them go for a song, while those who purchased the privileges made an amount of money far beyond their expectations.

FARIS EXPOSITION PROPITS.

The experience of the Paris Exposition that has just closed furnishes some interesting information. The total cost is estimated at $30,000,000, but this includes entertainment of guests on a scale never before attempted, the sums spent by foreign governments, the amounts expended by the city of Paris in its corporate capacity, and the expenses of exhibitors. The management proper spent about $7,600,000 and the subscribers, when the books are balanced, will find that they will receive a very handsome return for the use of their money, far more than they could have expected in any line of business. The cause of this fine showing is largely the price paid for privileges, and in spite of this the purchasers have in nearly every instance made profits that can fairly be regarded as excessive. The Eiffel Tower, for instance, is a permanent investment and will yield a large annual income. Long before the Exposition closed the entire cost had been returned to the stockholiers, a large dividend will soon be paid and the receipts in ruture will be clear profit.

These interested in the World's Fair, if held be paid and the receipts in ruture will be clear profit.

THE WORLD'S FAIR MUST PAY.

Those interested in the World's Fair, if held in St. Louis, have come to the conclusion that an investment in its stock is certain to prove most profitable. From the sale of privileges alone, judging from the offers aiready received, over $3,500,000 will certainly be realized, and it is estimated that this amount when competition once commences will be increased from 50 to 100 per cent. The advertising space to be let is counted on as good for $1,000,000 more, and it is intended to devise a number of features, of the general class represented by the Effect. Tower, the profits from which shall accrue to the Exposition company and not to private investors. The great returns from the Effect Tower, and also those of the circular railroad at the Centennial have proved how incrative these features are and the mistake of the Centennial managers in this respect will be avoided. Recognizing the bright prospects as a money-making investment offered by the Exposition, a number of the iargest subscribers have offered to double their subscribers have offered to double their subscriptions, if necessary, and there is no possibility of any lack of funds for carrying out the schemes of the managers.
